

Through Grandpa's Eyes (Poem)

Eyes that see, ears that hear
Fingers feel, all is clear
Mouth that tastes, nose that smells
Our body works...all is well

Senses we have, help us know
From our head to our toe
Each sense often will depend
Upon one another...in the end

By H. Nolan