

The Land I Lost: Adventures of a Boy in Vietnam

Unit 3, Lesson 1 • Fifth Grade

deep shallow enter exit lead follow
deep shallow enter exit lead follow

feared season weak sneaky
feared season weak sneaky

whined wherever when whole
whined wherever when whole

My little brother whined and followed me wherever I went.
My little brother whined and followed me wherever I went.

I feared this season's whole crop would be ruined by the heat.
I feared this season's whole crop would be ruined by the heat.

Weak swimmers should stay in the shallow end of the pool.
Weak swimmers should stay in the shallow end of the pool.

In Two Worlds: A Yup'ik Eskimo Family

Unit 3, Lesson 2 • Fifth Grade

small little withered shrank netted caught
small little withered shrank netted caught

vast spawned snow skimmed
vast spawned snow skimmed

tool school food
tool school food

In the small lagoon, we netted the most fish we had ever caught.

In the small lagoon, we netted the most fish we had ever caught.

In Scammon Bay, the vast, snow-covered tundra stretches as far as you can see.

In Scammon Bay, the vast, snow-covered tundra stretches as far as you can see.

At school, we use special tools in the kitchen to prepare food.

At school, we use special tools in the kitchen to prepare food.

The Night We Started Dancing

Unit 3, Lesson 3 • Fifth Grade

someday daytime hillside houseboat
someday daytime hillside houseboat

edge judge bridge porridge pledge
edge judge bridge porridge pledge

kingdom wisdom freedom
kingdom wisdom freedom

The animals graze on the hillside in the daytime.
The animals graze on the hillside in the daytime.

The houseboat moved slowly under the bridge.
The houseboat moved slowly under the bridge.

The judge was widely known for her wisdom.
The judge was widely known for her wisdom.

The West Side

Unit 3, Lesson 4 • Fifth Grade

blue blew to two red read break brake
blue blew to two red read break brake

sprint splendid stranger scream
sprint splendid stranger scream

watch catch scratch
watch catch scratch

The two girls will sprint across the playground.

The two girls will sprint across the playground.

I have a red scratch on my arm from my fall.

I have a red scratch on my arm from my fall.

I screamed when the stranger tried to catch my blue balloon.

I screamed when the stranger tried to catch my blue balloon.

Chinatown

Unit 3, Lesson 5 • Fifth Grade

well-being    sister-in-law    high-rise
well-being    sister-in-law    high-rise

remains    wait    rain
remains    wait    rain

knew    knit    knight
knew    knit    knight

She cared about the well-being of her sister-in-law.
She cared about the well-being of her sister-in-law.

I'll wait and see who remains in the high-rise.
I'll wait and see who remains in the high-rise.

The knight knew the rain would rust his armor.
The knight knew the rain would rust his armor.

The Night Journey

Unit 3, Lesson 6 • Fifth Grade

lambent luminous stony inexorable
lambent luminous stony inexorable

short sharp shutters sheer
short sharp shutters sheer

cackle chicken clucking thickness
cackle chicken clucking thickness

We could see the lambent flickers of light through the sheer curtains.

We could see the lambent flickers of light through the sheer curtains.

Sharp, short beeps emanated from a car alarm.

Sharp, short beeps emanated from a car alarm.

The farmer was greeted with the cackle and clucking of the chickens.

The farmer was greeted with the cackle and clucking of the chickens.

Parmele

Unit 3, Lesson 7 • Fifth Grade

gas station

firefighter

punching bag

gas station

firefighter

punching bag

laugh

enough

tough

laugh

enough

tough

narrow

fellow

grow

narrow

fellow

grow

The fire engine raced to the gas station.

The fire engine raced to the gas station.

That tough fellow seems to think I'm his punching bag.

That tough fellow seems to think I'm his punching bag.

I've grown too tall to fit in those pants.

I've grown too tall to fit in those pants.