Book 73 Mr. Lee

Andy was a timid artist who made pretty windows. Rainbows danced in his windows.

He took a long, long walk on a dark scary road and carried his beautiful window.

When he came to the town where the inn was, everyone told him to turn back. They said that the inn was a dark and scary place.

The cook said that chairs knocked and tablecloths floated.

The innkeeper said that drapes swayed and bad things happened.

Andy and the cook and the innkeeper all went into the inn. A window was broken. Andy fitted his new window in and all the bad things stopped.
