

THE GARDEN (Tune: Three Blind Mice)

Toad had some seeds (echo)
Wanted them to grow (echo)
 Planted them in the soft, black earth
 Waited long 'til the seeds gave birth
 How much work was his garden worth?
Oh, Frog and Toad (echo)

Seeds needed light (echo)
And they needed rain (echo)
 First, he talked to the seeds, so low
 Told them to please hurry up and grow
 Looked for them in a neat little row
Oh, Frog and Toad (echo)

Toad was impatient (echo)
Waited so long (echo)
 Stories and poems he did read all day
 Sang a song with a tune he'd play
 Worn out and tired, asleep he lay
Oh, Frog and Toad (echo)

H. Nolan

